COLUMBIA, ADAIR COUNTY, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 21, 1910.

NUMBER 46

A TEXAS REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

Nominates a Former Russell County Boy for Congress in the First District.

NOMINEE IN COLUMBIA FOUR WEEKS AGO.

A letter from Sulphur Springs, Texas, contains the following information:

The Republicans of the first Congressional District of Texas, held their convention in this city Aug. 27th, and nominated Hon. Vilmer Antle, of Sulphur Springs, Texas, for Congress.

Mr. Antle is a prominent cotton buyer, having been with the firm of H. W. & Co., of New York. He is formally from Russell county, Kentucky, having just returned from Russell Springs, Ky., where he and Mrs. Antle spent the summer with his parents.

The Convention should be completed on nominating Mr. Antle, for he is a man who has many admirers, notwithstanding the short time he has been in Texas, and will add great strength to the party, being a republican of the highest type.

Notice.

An order having been entered at the regular August 10th term of the Adair County court, directing that a poll be opened and closed in Raley voting precinct No. 1 of Adair County on the first Tuesday in Nov., 1910, submitting to the voters of said precinct the question as to whether or not certain or any species thereof shall be permitted to run at large in said precinct. Therefore I will on Tuesday Nov., 1910 cause a poll to be opened and an election held at the regular voting places in said precinct submitting to the voters the question as to whether or not cattle or any species thereof shall be permitted to run at large. A. D. Patterson, Sheriff of Adair County.

Death at Campbellsville.

Fannie, the beloved wife of Mr. J. S. Stults, Campbellsville, died at her late home Wednesday night of last week. She was a victim of a Cancer and was sorely afflicted for seven or eight years. Her husband did everything in his power to prolong her life, much of her time during her illness, being spent in Louisville and Cincinnati where she was treated by the most eminent physicians. She was the youngest child of the late Ferdinand Heistean, and was born and reared in Campbellsville where she had many friends and where her death is deeply deplored. Her husband is also a cancer sufferer, and their children are left to cheer his lonely home. There is one, however, who can give comfort, and to him we would admonish the sorrowing husband to go and with a contrite heart ask for the balm that will heal a bleeding heart.

Mr. W. A. Coffey, agent for Mrs. Ellen Wheat, sold to Mr. W. C. Grider, last Tuesday, the farm and residence at Montpelier, known as the Cyrus Wheel property, for $5,875, possession to be given the first of October. This is a very desirable farm and is considered cheap. Mr. Grider the purchaser formerly lived in Columbia. He is a first-class citizen and a fine farmer. At present he is living at Esto, Russell county, where he owns a good farm. We are glad that he decided to again become a resident of Adair county.

Jim Conover, who lives near Gentry's Mill, killed a large copperhead snake a few days ago. Fifteen young ones, about one foot long, ran out the mouth of the dead reptile.

We are receiving this week tailored coats for ladies and Misses. Newest fabrics and latest styles.

The Wayne County Outlook asks, who is "Dick Lee," the negro boy who was recently arrested at Stanford, upon the charge of stabbing two white men. The boy's name is Dick Lee Hardin. He was born and reared near Columbia. He got into trouble here and left six or eight years ago. His mother lives near this place, and we understand has been to Stanford to see her son since he got into trouble at that place.

Robert, the eleven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Campbell, Pelyton, met with a severe misfortune one day last week. He was riding a mule, the animal getting scared, throwing the lad to the ground, breaking his left arm. The limb was set by a physician, and the limb itself is getting along very nicely.

Mr. M. L. Mitchell will please accept the thanks of this office for several very delicious pears, his own growing.

The Baptist Association.

The Russell Creek Baptist Association convened with the church at Milltown, this county, last Wednesday and Thursday. Mr. H. S. Robinson, of Campbellsville, was the Moderator and Mr. E. P. Moore, of Lebanon, Clergyman. Nearly all the Churches in the boundary were represented either by letter or messenger and many of the reports showed a great increase in membership. During the session a number of interesting sermons and helpful talks were delivered.

The people of Milltown showed their appreciation of the large gathering by handsomely entertaining all who attended.

The next Association will be held with the church at Greasy Creek, Green county, Wednesday afternoon after the first Sunday in October, 1911.

Marietta.

Dr. Simpson Simmons, who recently graduated from the Louisville University, and Miss Eliza J. Phelps, who lives near Jamestown, were married last Wednesday morning by Eld. F. J. Barger in front of the minister's residence. Dr. Simmons has located at Grayville where he will practice his profession and is a very worthy young man. His bride is one of Russell county's best young women. The couple have the best wishes of their many friends.

Died, Near Shelbyville.

Mrs. Sallie Shafer, died near Shelbyville Saturday night of last week, after a prolonged illness. The deceased was a daughter of Mrs. U. L. Taylor, with whom her husband reached Shelbyville in time to attend the funeral. The deceased maiden name was Miss Sallie Allen, and in her girlhood days was a student in C. C. College, this place. Her old schoolmates will regret to hear of her death.

Mr. R. L. Hill, Jeweler and Optometrist, of Campbellsville, Ky., who has recently returned from the Northern Illinois College of Optics, at Chicago, where he took the various courses and degree required by that school, wishes to say to the people of Columbia and Adair county, that whenever they need anything in his line, he will give them prompt and accurate service. Mr. Hill has been in the jewelry and optical business, at Campbellsville, for several years. See his "ad" in this issue of our paper.

The arc lights of this town are operated by switches and no one has the right to meddle with a switch who is not concerned in the plant. It has been the case that some one has turned the lights on several occasions, and the individual who knows nothing about the construction is likely to do damage. Therefore, unconcerned persons are warned to keep their hands off the switch that governs the arc lights. A. H. Ballard.

Mr. Frank Sinclair has sold a one-half interest in the front lot, between the Paul Drug Co., and Mr. W. H. Wilson's store to Mr. G. W. Dillon. They will erect a brick business house, sixty feet deep and will complete it this fall. All the plans have not yet been agreed upon, but will be determined in a few days. This building will be quite an addition to the square; the more business houses we have the more business will be established.

At the evening services seven or eight persons asked an interest in the prayers of Christian people. Mr. Presley Clark has organized his choir and the singing is very delightful. Democratic Congressional Convention at Somerset next Thursday. Two names most prominently mentioned for the nomination—Virgil Smith of Somerset, and Elzy Bertram, of Albany.

The large vote brought out last Tuesday was, as far as we know, without a single disturbance in the country. There was a little wrangling over a few votes in West Columbia Precinct, but nobody got mad enough to bring on a disturbance of any consequence.

"Delightful Outing."

Really it seemed that the day of the "use to be" had returned when Wednesday afternoon about five o'clock Mr. Robt. Todd, brought in his wagon and team, and conveyed a crowd out to Todd's Cave. The destination was reached at 7:30 and immediately a large fire was started, around which the young ladies spread a very enjoyable lunch. When this was over the exploration of the cave followed, lasting about two hours.

James Scores Willson.

A dispatch from Frankfort says that State Auditor Frank P. James has received many letters from Republicans in the Eighth Congressional District, congratulating him on the plain, unvarnished interview which he gave regarding the appointment of Judge Lewis Walker by acting Governor Cox. James does not expect ever to run for office again, although he would serve his party if handed something good on the silver waiter. He declares, however, that there was no politics in the statement, and that it pained him to make it for he had the pledge of Acting Governor Cox, but he says that he could not do so now, and does not want to take back anything he said. Jane says, too, that any attempt on the part of the "whisky ring" to gain ascendancy in Republican ranks will split the party. He is the leader on the temperance side. He says that Willson has done the party a great harm in playing both the whisky and the temperance factions, and that it is not too late for the Republican party in this State to carry out the platform pledges, and that it should do so before the administration comes to a close. —E-Town News.

Woman Plans Woman's Paper.

Mrs. E. C. Atwood of Philadelphia is arranging for the publication in Washington of "The Woman's Interstate Press," a woman's newspaper, edited and reported by women and devoted entirely to their interests. It is not to be the official organ of any council, association, club or league, but it will deal independently with all questions affecting women. It proposes to devote particular attention to news of feminine interest, such as better conditions for children, teachers and women wage-earners. Mrs. Atwood says that the new paper is not to be a fashion journal nor a cook book, or a collection of health hints, but a real newspaper, in which matters of genuine interest will be discussed. One of the features will be a review of the world's work.

The Call to Service.

Every individual has certain endowments—some of them fixed in amount, some capable of almost unlimited extension—which are his to use for himself or for his master. Time, intellectual power, social gifts—some have one, some another, not many possess all. But upon every Christian comes the obligation to service, not by imperious command, but as the natural response of the heart to him through whom alone we have knowledge of the true meaning of life. The man who can truly speak of Christ as "My Saviour" cannot call anything else selfishly "mine." As in feudal times, the man surrenders himself and all to his master and receives it again at his hands on conditions of stewardship and service. "We are not our own. We are bought with a price."

The forest fires in the northwest have stirred the entire nation. Exactly how many people have lost their lives is not known, but it is probably over the hundred mark. It is reported that as many as 86 employees of the forest service have lost their lives. Fire fighters were ordered to save the lives of the people and let the timber go, as the situation reached a stage where it was considered inadvisable to try to stop the fires. The loss of property will reach into the millions of dollars according to estimates.

The Boy Question.

The worst habit that boys can into is that of loafing around on the streets at night. It is then they cast their lot in slippery places when at any moment they are likely to fall from grace. All good and noble lessons taught them by their mothers are nullified. They learn nothing that is good, but everything bad. The boys who spend their evenings in the sacred precincts of home with good books for their companions, are the future hope of this republic. They will fill our legislative and congressional halls, and sit in judgment upon men and measures, while the boys who run the streets will fill our penitentiaries, almshouses and lunatic asylums. Parents who are responsible for these broken laws of decency will have broken hearts and bowed down heads in the awakening years that will inevitably follow.

A New Danger in False Hair.

A few days ago, a young lady in Richmond, Va., while resting in a hammock in her garden took a "rat" out of her hair in order to cool and rest her head. She laid it carelessly down beside her, and thought no more about it. The next day she felt strange pains in her head. They grew so severe that she was compelled to leave her place of employment and go home. She took down her hair and found great swollen places on her scalp. Her mother, who was trying to assist her in easing her pain, happened to pick up the "rat" the girl had just removed, and feeling something hard in it, she began pulling it apart. Great was her horror to find a six-inch moccasin nestled in the center of the hair. It had worked its way in the day before when the young lady had put it on the ground.—The Christian Herald.

President Taft asserts that in the Payne-Aldrich bill necessities were favored at the expense of luxuries. Here are a few comparisons which show how the Republicans really "favored" the necessities. The necessary raw sugar was taxed 65 per cent, while the luxury diamonds, cut but not set, were taxed only 10 per cent. Such necessities as blankets, flannels, women's dress goods, shawls, knit goods, wearing apparel and other woolen manufacturers, were made to pay a tax of from 80 to 140 per cent, while the luxury automobiles were taxed but 45 per cent.

Probably the best timekeeper in the world is the electric clock in the Berlin observatory. It is enclosed in an airtight cylinder and its deviation is practically oil.

The Peanut Politician.

One by one as the decades come and go, do we find father time ringing in the changes. The things we have about us now are not the things which were, each and every thing having its turn, serving its day, and then becoming obsolete. One of the most noticeable of these evolving changes is "The passing of the peanut politician" a character that for years played an active part in every township and city. He it was sat behind the scene and looked wise and issued his edicts. When upon the street he rushed to shake hands with the great common people and the serenity of his bland smile used on that occasion would settle the most pestiferous storm. He gave out his opinion in that knowing confidential manner that said "I'll tell you this because you are my friend so do not mention it." Now this political sage is fast becoming one of the things that were. The people no longer look to him for wisdom; they have long since learned that those gushing how-dye-do's and confidential chats did not mean anything and that they were handed out liberally to all. The voter now when approached by this politician immediately begins to ask himself what the clever gentleman wants.

This place, as everyone knows, I suppose, has a history, for on these grounds the Blue and Grey met and an awful struggle ensued, which put a blot on the page of history and to which we all look back not only with sorrow, but with pride. No men ever fought so nobly for their cause, each believing he was right. The other evening as I sat on the Bampot of the old Fort wandered if years ago some poor soul had not sit there thinking of mother, and home and all that was dear to him, and to whom he never returned. As I approached the entrance of the old Fort Morgan I entered a tunnel which goes under the outer wall. It is probably one hundred feet in length; then you cross a court and enter into a large stone gateway which shows, in spite of its age, the care and skill used in its building. At the entrance of tunnel there are two large wooden doors about 8 inches in thickness, put together with bolts, swung on huge iron hinges. The entrance at the stone gateway is made on the same order as that at the tunnel entrance, with the exception that one of these doors has a small door. When passing in or out, it is not necessary to open the entrance. Most of the work remains practically perfect. Little stones are used in construction. Most of it is brick work, which far surpasses the skill of our workman today. Nothing remains but the structure; the guns have been taken away; around the old gun mounting are large blood stains, where men of noble minds fought, bled and died for a cause they believed to be noble. Perhaps some reader of this article had a father or husband who had fought here.

Editor News:

For some time I have been thinking of writing, but on account of so many political items being published in the Adair County News, I did not care to impose upon the editor. For I am sure of this, that putting a man among men in office is of more importance than a mere item of description.

I take great interest in watching the heat of political battles through the News and I hope each man in office will do justice to his cause.

I am now stationed at Fort Morgan. We left Tampa on the morning of June 8th and arrived here on the evening of the 11th. Our journey here was pleasant; one could not help thinking as he gazed from the car window of the glories of this Southern climate for neither poet nor artist can do justice to the scenery we viewed on our trip. The tall slender pines, the broad spreading oak which nature had so beautifully decorated with moss, were graced with a beauty of their own. Life is not so monotonous here as at Ft. Desoto. There are 4 companies here. The armament are two 12 inch rifles, and 8.8 inch rifles and 8.12 inch mortars; 215 pound batteries.

This place, as everyone knows,

I suppose, has a history, for on these grounds the Blue and Grey met and an awful struggle ensued, which put a blot on the page of history and to which we all look back not only with sorrow, but with pride. No men ever fought so nobly for their cause, each believing he was right. The other evening as I sat on the Bampot of the old Fort wandered if years ago some poor soul had not sit there thinking of mother, and home and all that was dear to him, and to whom he never returned. I arrived I have in my possession quite a lot of choice selections of souvenirs.

The temperature here averages 98; the rainfall is very great, but our only system of travel is by boat. Therefore, the rainfall does not affect our water road. Our leisure hours are spent at ball playing and in the gymnasium at boxing and bowling. Our ball team has not lost but one game this season. On last Sunday they played a double header; they shut one team out and the other the score stood 4 to 8 in favor of Fort Morgan. We have another game for next Sunday, but it has been so unlikely they may not come. This is the stormy season of the year in this part of the country.

At one side of the reservation is a cemetery in which the noble lives were buried, who fought in the war I have mentioned above. At times, in wandering over the sand heaps you can find bones of the bodies of men who were buried here years ago. It seems a shame that this old cemetery has been neglected. Our school is progressing very rapidly, with 108 students enrolled for gunners, first class in the branch of coast defense.

As it is nearing time for old glory to be lowered to its morning, I will close. Wishing success to all, I am your comrade and friend.

Republican Troubles.

As The News foreshadowed some time ago Senator Bradley will have to be reckoned with before Judge O'Rear is nominated by the Republicans for Governor. Confirmatory to this opinion is the appointment of Lewis L. Walker as Circuit Judge to succeed the late Judge Saufley by Acting Gov. Cox. Walker is from Garrard county and was a former law partner of Senator Bradley's. His appointment was doubtless at the suggestion of the Senator and made in the interest of Lieut. Gov. Cox, who will likely oppose Judge O'Rear for the gubernatorial nomination. Here is what State Auditor James says about the appointment:

"The appointment pleases the whiskey ring," and it shows Cox's position in the future" in my judgment. Cox told me that he would not make the appointment, but would let Governor Wilson appoint. Cox read me a letter to-day giving him information that Taft had refused to appoint Walker as United States District Attorney. After that I told Cox and he appointed Walker, I say he is not fit to be Governor, and although I told him I was for him, I am against him and will do everything in my power to beat the man who, I think, has played selfish politics at the expense of the party and the people of the State.—Elizabethtown News.

Keep Up Her Milk.

Whatever you do, try to keep up a cow's flow of milk after she once comes fresh. It may be possible to bring her up again to a considerable extent after having dropped, but the undertaking is difficult. It costs much more to bring her back even partially than to keep her up from the start. With plenty of good clover and bluegrass pasture and an abundance of pure water, it ought not to be hard to keep up a cow's original flow of milk at least within reasonable limits.

When the pasture begins to dry up, give the cow some good protein feed like alfalfa, cowpeas or clover hay. If these can not be obtained in their stead give some wheat bran or a few pounds of cottonseed meal—Farmers Home Journal.

Infection in the Prison.

Only twenty-one prisons in fifteen States and Territories have provided special places for the treatment of their tuberculosis prisoners. These institutions can accommodate, however, only 800 patients. In three-fourths of the major prisons and in practically all the jails of the country the tuberculous prisoner is allowed freely to infect his fellow prisoners, very few restrictions being placed upon his habits. When the congregate mode of prison life is considered, the danger of infection becomes greater than in the general population. New York and Massachusetts are the only States where any systematic attempt has been made to transfer all tuberculous prisoners to one central institution. The largest prison tuberculosis hospital is in Manila, where accommodations for 200 prisoners are provided. The next largest is Clinton prison hospital in New York, which provides for 150.

The census returns now coming in steadily leaves no doubt that the country is growing in population at a rapid rate. The gains in some of the cities are very notable, several of the little places having made remarkable advancement in the last ten years. This growth is really more significant in various ways than the increases in the larger cities, for it shows local thrift and prosperity. Study of the latest census returns must help to dissipate any pessimistic ideas as to the condition of the country.

For Baby's Ills

Something can and must be done for the puny, crying baby, for the child that refuses to eat and is restless in its sleep. And since the basis of the diet is good appetite and sound sleep, the proper making of the digestive system is the first factor in the condition of the stomach and bowels.

A child should have two full and free movements of the bowels a day. This emptying of the bowel is very important, as it is a common cause of restlessness of step, poor appetite and sound sleep. It is also a factor in the ability to know what to give the child in the emaciated, languid, listless and indolent condition. Cathartics are not strong purgatives nor are they good for children. They like their taste and do not have to force them to take it.

Provisions of New State Law.

Much interest is felt in the indeterminate sentence law recently passed by the Kentucky Legislature, under which the first convictions have just occurred in Warren county.

After a man has been found guilty he is sentenced to the penitentiary and the prison board decided as to length of time he shall remain, much depending on his good behavior, etc. The jury and trial judge have nothing to say as to his term of services further than is shown by the following, which is the law governing in such cases:

That the jury by which an offender indicted for a felony is tried shall ascertain only whether or not said person is guilty of the offense charged if said person shall be found by the jury guilty of a felony. The jury shall so state in its verdict and after such finding by the jury the Judge trying such offender shall pronounce an indeterminate sentence of imprisonment in the penitentiary for a term, stating the minimum and the maximum limits thereof, according to the penalty prescribed by law."

The program will be interspersed by solos by some of the very best singers in the county, and it is hoped that all lovers of music will be present to take a part.

The Crippen Case.

If Doctor Crippen is convicted it will be on circumstantial, or indirect, evidence; it will be because the persuasion of guilt amounts to moral certainty such as to convince the minds of his judge and of his jury beyond all reasonable doubt. The evidence against him will have to be preponderate to an extent such as to make the presumption of his innocence in the highest degree improbable; such as to amount to judicial proof. No eyes witnessed the act; but the collateral evidence is ocular, tangible, and may prove to be overwhelming.

Cumulative circumstance have determined more mysterious murder trials than most people remember; visible and positive evidence in such cases is not to be looked for, nor is it frequently available. Men do not go about such acts before witnesses; deeds of darkness are not done in daylight, and it follows, therefore, that, in criminal proceedings, circumstantial evidence

The Crippen case will be followed here with something more than a merely morbid interest; from the meager reports to hard the probabilities do not favor the accused; the admitted facts have an ugly aspect. THE REPUBLICAN PRIMARY.

Caleb Powers Easily Defeats D. C. Edwards, Carrying Every County in the District But Three.

HIS MAJORITY TEN THOUSAND OR MORE.

The result of Republican primary in the Eleventh district, last Thursday, was a great surprise to Mr. Edwards and also to Mr. Powers, the former that he was defeated, the latter that his majority was so large.

Edward's supporters in this end of the district knew that Mr. Powers was largely the favorite in Adair, Casey, Russell, Clinton, Cumberland, Monroe, Wayne, but they reasoned that Mr. Edward's vote in the upper end of the district would overreach Mr. Power's vote in this end, and Edward's friends entered the primary very hopeful Thursday morning.

After the polls were closed and the returns commenced to arrive it was plain to every body that Powers was an easy winner.

At this writing his exact majority can not be told, but it is in the neighborhood of ten or twelve thousand.

The following is the vote of counties sent in the night after the primary:

London, Ky., Sept. 16—Edwards carried his home county by eighteen votes. From the beginning his followers have been loyal and unchanged. The influence of Senator Bradley, though not active, had been figured a strong factor in Power's behalf.

Williamsburg, Ky., Sept. 16—Twenty-eight out of twenty-nine precincts in Whitley county gave Powers about 1,200 majority over Edwards. The other precinct will increase Power's majority about 50.

Whitesburg, Ky., Sept. 16—with one precinct out, Letcher county gave Caleb Powers 330 majority over D. C. Edwards. The precinct to hear from is conceded to Powers, which will swell his majority to 350.

Somerset, Ky., Sept. 16—Pulaski county gives Edwards a majority of 500, all precincts heard from. The election here was the quietest held in the county. No disturbances were reported in the county.

London, Ky., Sept. 16—Owsley county complete, except Upper Buffalo, gives Powers 615 majority. The missing precinct will increase his majority to 650.

Liberty, Ky., Sept. 16—Eleven precincts in Casey county give Powers 996, Edwards 265. One precinct to hear from will increase Power's majority 35.

Burkesville, Ky., Sept. 16—Complete returns, from to-day's primary in Cumberland county give Powers 310 Edwards 298.

Middlesboro, Ky., Sept. 16—With twenty-one out of twenty-six precincts reported, Edwards carries Bell county by 350.

Tompkinsville, Ky., Sept. 16—The total vote for Powers in Monroe county is 1,353, for Edwards, 287.

Jamestown, Ky., Sept. 16—Russell county complete gives Powers 527² majority over Edwards. 211.

Columbia, Ky., Sept. 16—The full vote of Adair county: Powers 1,273; Edwards, 345.

Albany, Ky., Sept. 16—Powers' majority in Clinton county is 577.

The above dispatches are from twelve of the nineteen counties composing the district. Sixteen of the nineteen gave majorities for Powers. The three counties carried by Mr. Edwards are Laurel, Pulaski and Bell.

The official court is not likely to make any material changes in the first reports sent out.

The full vote of Adair county, by precincts, is published on our first page.

The local option contest at Lebanon was decided last week in favor of the drys. At the election the wetts won by thirteen majority, but the County Judge and two magistrates, all wet men, decided that the election was illegally called.

Replying to statements of Republican members of the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee, Representative James M. Graham, a Democratic member of the committee, declared the minority members did not play politics, and did only right in making public their report.

The Independent Democrats of Tennessee have indorsed the candidacy of Capt. Hooper, the Republican nominee for Governor. It does not look like a reconciliation will be brought about. With the independents supporting Hooper, the indications point to a Republican Governor of Tennessee. This state of affairs can be charged to the present executive of the State, Ham Patterson.

Col. George Bohon has purchased the entire estate of the Shakers of Mercer county. The consideration was $5,000 in cash and to obligate himself to take care of the remaining fourteen

A Central Argentine Railway Company will soon electrify their Retiro-Ballester and Retiro-Tigre suburban services.

Manufacturers of brass beds have been trying to sell them in Nicaragua, despite the fact that bedsteads are not generally used there. Most of the people sleep on folding canvas cots.

Owing to scarcity of laborers the Canadian Government has decided to admit from all countries, except Asia, railway construction laborers who are guaranteed employment by contractors.

Government Bonds in Chili are soon to be put on the local market to the amount of $12,600,000 for reconstructing the town of Valdivia and for the prosecution of work on the Arica-La Paz railroad.

Wages throughout the cities of Asia Minor are low. Carpenters get from thirty-two to fifty-six cents a day, bricklayers get from forty to forty-eight cents, and common laborers from four to twelve cents. Doctors charge forty cents for pulling a tooth.

The tanning industries in Valdivia and vicinity are closed, which is materially affecting business in Southern Chili. The shutting down is attributed to the recently enacted tariff laws of Germany, where the greater part of the products of the tannery went.

The Canal Zone makes a community of about 7,000 Americans, men, women and children, 4,500 men on canal work, 925 on the Panama railroad, 1,500 women and 1,500 children, divided among the handful of little villages, each of which has its individual social and sport activities.

During the first thirty years of the Nineteenth century France recorded more than thirty births for each 1,000 inhabitants. After the Franco-Prussian War (1870-71) the birth rate began declining, between the years 1876 and 1900 ranging from twenty-six to twenty-two in 1,000. During 1900 it sunk to twenty-one, and more recent statistics show that the rate has fallen to twenty.

When the irrigating scheme now under discussion becomes a reality several reservoirs will be built at different levels, using the water of the Gualadquivir river for the purpose. The falls between the reservoirs will be utilized for the production of electricity for light and power purposes, making it possible for this section of Maine to become a great manufacturing center.

Happy Farmer Boy.

"I'd like to be a boy again without a woe or care, with freckles scattered on my face and hayseed in my hair."

"I'd like to rise at 4 o'clock and do a hundred chores, saw the wood and feed the hogs and lock the stable doors, and herd the hens and watch the bees and take the mule to drink, and teach the turkeys how to swim so that they wouldn't sink, and milk about a hundred cows and bring the wood to burn, and stand out in the sun all day and churn and churn and churn, and wear my brother's cast-off clothes and walk four miles to school, and get a licking every day for breaking some old rule, and then get home again at night and do the chores some more, and milk the cows and feed the hogs and carry mules galore, and then crawl wearily up stairs to seek my little bed, and hear dad say, 'That worthless boy! he isn't worth his bread!'

"I'd like to be a boy again—he has so much fun! His life is just a round of mirth from rise to set of sun. I guess there's nothing pleasanter than closing stable doors and herding hens and chasing bees and doing the evening chores." —Commercial Travelers' Magazine.

A Daughter's Part at Home.

One of the sweetest things a girl can do is to receive friends graciously, particularly at home. In one's own house a cordial manner is peculiarly fitting. Do not stand off in the middle of the room and bow coldly and formally to the friend who has called. Walk over to meet her; give her your hand and say pleasantly that you are very glad to see her again. A daughter's part is to assist her mother on every social occasion. Apart from and more important even than her manner to a guest who drops in for an hour or a day is the manner of a daughter to her father and mother. The father returns to his home after a wearying day at business. He is tired in body and mind says Woman's Life. Coming back, as his latchkey turns in the home door he throws off care; he is joyous at the thought of the dear ones he will meet after hours of absence. His young daughter, in a pretty gown, with the bloom and freshness only girlhood wears, should be ready to give him the attention he loves—the kiss, the cheery word—to help her mother and the rest in letting her father see how much he is loved at home.

Men give up a great deal for their families—their time, their strength the knowledge they have gained in life's experiences. They spend everything freely for their home's sake, and the home should pay its debt in much outspoken love.

The Lash of a Friend.

would have been about as welcome to A. Cooper of Oswego, N. Y., as a merciless lung-racking cough that defied all remedies for years. "It was most troublesome at night," he writes, "nothing helped me till Dr. King's New Discovery which cured me completely. I never cough at night now." Millions know its matchless merit for stubborn colds, obstinate coughs, sore lungs, laryngitis, asthma, hemorrhage, croup, whooping cough, or hayfever. It relieves quickly and never fails to satisfy. A Stork Shower.

The women friends of a young matron and expectant mother arranged for her a stork shower which was both useful and pretty. Each friend undertook to contribute some needful article for the little expected newcomer, suiting her pocketbook in the selection. The arrangement of the shower was extremely pretty. Four stuffed cranes (which pass muster for storks) were secured in a Japanese shop. They were represented as flying and were suspended from the ceiling toward the four corners of the room. Pink and pale blue ribbons were swaying from one bird's bill to another, diagonally arranged so that they crossed, and to these various pretty things were pinned.

Fourteen Errors.

To try to measure the enjoyment of others by our own.

To expect uniformity of opinion in this world.

To look for judgment and experience in youth.

To endeavor to mould all dispositions alike.

To not yield in unimportant trifles.

To look for perfection in our actions.

To worry ourselves and others about what cannot be remedied.

To alleviate if we can all that needs alleviation.

To make allowances for the weaknesses of others.

To believe only what our finite minds can grasp.

To consider anything impossible that we cannot ourselves perform.

To attempt to set up our own standard of right and wrong and expect everybody to conform to it.

To live as if the moment, the time, the day were so important that it would live forever.

To estimate people by some outside quality, for it is that within which makes the man—London Evening Standard.

SANDUSKY & COMPANY
COLUMBIA, KENTUCKY.Do it Now.

If you are one of those people who keep putting off doing little tasks about the house until they are piled up mountain high, try the following plan:

Get a notebook and write down in it a list of all the various things you have been meaning to do, but never have time to do, such as sending off a recipe to a friend, returning the song you borrowed or mending the hole in the curtains. When the list is completed set aside the first afternoon or evening you can possibly share and work off as many as you can. As soon as you have finished one score it off with a pencil, and you will be surprised to find what a pleasant sensation it is to see the list growing smaller.

Of course some people have taught themselves to do things just the moment they're noticed or as soon after as they can possibly manage it and don't need reminders, but the notebook will help those who have not acquired the "do it now" habit.

New Cure For Suicide.

Up in Berwick, Pa., a young man who was down in the mouth inquired of another young man, Albert Miricle, the nearest way to the river. Mr. Miricle pointed out the way. The down-in-the-mouth individual said he was obliged to his informant. He wanted to die, and the river offered opportunities. Mr. Miricle replied that it did, for such d—n fools as the inquired, and advised him to get to it as quickly as possible, resting assured that no one would care how soon he submerged himself in its hospitable dampness.

There resulted a fight. When the fight was over the despondent man found that all thoughts of suicide had been drubbed out of him.

The "licking" acted as what the physicians call an "alterative." It performed a cure.

Surely Mr. Miricle who picked a fight with a forlorn fellowman for the purpose of saving that man's life, is just as guilty as if he had jumped into the river and hauled him out.

It Will Help You

Mrs. Maxwell Johnson, Tampa, Fla., writes: "Cardui cured me after doctors and everything else had failed. I had been suffering with numb spells ever since I was 16 years old. One day I decided to take Cardui. I have now taken 5 bottles and I can say that it has cured me. I advise all suffering women to give Cardui a long and fair trial."

Mrs. Johnson suffered years. Have you? Do you wish to? But why suffer at all? Take Cardui. Give it a fair trial.

Men as Vain as Women.

"Vanity is about equally distributed between the sexes," said the beauty doctor, who is an expert in the art of subcutaneous hydrocarbon prostheses. "Men are not more vain than women nor women than men, though I believe that women get the credit generally for more vanity. I could tell you many tales of the operations of men go through with to be made more beautiful.

"Look at this picture of this old beau. Isn't he handsome? He is 85 if he is a day, and I think there is hardly a part on his countenance that he hasn't come here to have some line of his face carved into greater nobility and beauty. I have cut open the bags under his eyes and sewed them up again, taking out unnecessary cuticle; I have sewed up his double chin and shaped up the lobes of his ears to suit his ideas of grace and beauty.

"These operations are not painful at the moment, because I use plenty of cocaine, but you'd think the after-effect would be too much for such an old gentleman. Wouldn't you? But it isn't. He is bound to be beautiful.

"I had another old customer who was a queer guy. He wanted his chin made into the shape of Napoleon's. He brought a little bust of Napoleon with him every time he came for me to carve it by. Had me take piece after piece out of his chin to square it. I was glad when I got his chin to his liking and he took himself and the bust off.

"Men are fairly steady of nerve when it comes to these delicate operations, but they are not in it with the women. They seem to be able to stand any sort of pain better than men. A woman came to me not long ago to have her ears sewed back. They stood out in a way that was anything but beautiful. I put her in the chair and examined her ears. They were in a frightful condition. I found many places that had been stitched again and again, some that were not healed yet.

"You have already been operated on?" I said.

"No; she hadn't. Finally she admitted the truth. Her ears were so abnormal she was just ashamed of them. When she went to party she had her maid sew them back to her head with a common needle and thread.

"What do you think of that? No cocaine, no anything, and yet she stood it again and again, many times, from the looks of her ears.

"You should see the list of Newport swells I have operated on, who telegraph me to come down, all expenses paid, whenever they want a tuck taken in eyelid or a reef in a double chin, or a stitch in an upper eyelid or an eyebrow carved into more graceful lines than those followed by nature. The common people must remain as God made them over. When you've got money to burn it's a quick way to burn it."

Sense of Danger.

Dr. Waldo of London holds that people should develop a sixth sense to inform them of the approach of danger in the streets. Lafcadio Hearn once said: "While in a crowd I seldom look at faces. My intuition is almost infallible, like that blind faculty by which in absolute darkness one becomes aware of the proximity of bulky objects without touching them. If I hesitate to obey it a collision is the inevitable consequence. What pilots one quickly and safely through a thick press is not conscious observation at all, but unreasoning intuitive perception."

Do You Care.

"Say, do you care for that sort of thing?" asked the man, quickly. "I've been more or less of a brute today—but I haven't cared. It's seemed all so deadly over. I never really cared for her—not more than two weeks. I always did think you were different somehow. You have your mother's eyes. Why can't we have an old-fashioned romance all our own?"

The girl turned toward the sun that had just rounded the grassy knoll and was full upon them.

"How like a benediction!" she said. "If we only could!"

"We can," said the man, triumphantly. "Let's get over in the shade."

"I knew I should have brought sister's parasol," she said, fretfully, as he helped her to her feet. "I do need a new one."

"What kind do you want dear?" he asked, eagerly.

"Really? How nice! I love lavender," answered the girl, smiling softly.
